The Australian Mathematics Trust (AMT) abides by the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs). Any personal or sensitive information collected from you, your child(ren) or your student(s) is treated in accordance with this legislation.

Our privacy policy is available on the AMT website here: www.amt.edu.au/privacy-policy.

If you want your child(ren) or student(s) to participate in any AMT competition then you (yourself and on behalf of the child or student) will need to consent to the collection, use and disclosure of personal information in accordance with our privacy policy. Some of our competitions are delivered through a provider based overseas.

The AMT publishes results of its competitions and activities on its website. We also publish competition information about students who participate which may include the student's name, school, school year, award and score as well as the names of award winners and/or medallists.

In agreeing to permit your child(ren) or student(s) to sit one of our competitions, and in completing and submitting this application form to AMT and in paying any applicable registration fee, you also:

- (a) consent to the collection, use and disclosure of your and your child's or student's personal information by AMT as detailed in our privacy policy, including disclosure to our competition and service providers;
- (b) consent to the publication of your child's or student's competition information on the AMT website; and
- (c) agree that you have authority to provide the above consent.

You acknowledge and agree that, once your child's/student's name has been published on our website, AMT has no control over third parties using and disclosing that information on other websites.
